The Ministers Write...

From Rev. Kim Plumpton

Dear Friends,

As I trawled through my e-mails a few weeks ago I found an e-mail from the Elmbridge Multi-Faith Forum Committee. The e-mail contained an article which was entitled 'Losing my Religion for Equality'.

The article was written by the ex-president of the United States Jimmy Carter, formerly a member of the southern Baptist Church in America. I say formerly because after 60 years as teacher and deacon of the church he has now severed all ties. In the article Jimmy Carter goes on to explain why that decision was unavoidable.

He says "Carefully selecting bible verses to perpetuate the idea that women should be subservient to men and prohibited from serving as deacons, pastors or chaplains means that women are prevented from playing an equal role in faith and society." He suggests "The view that women are somehow inferior to men is not restricted to one religion or belief nor does this influence stop at the walls of the church, mosque, synagogue or temple... the belief that women must be subjugated to the wishes of men excuses slavery, violence, forced prostitution, genital mutilation, laws that omit rape as a crime... the roots of prejudice lie deep in our histories but the impact is felt every day... it is self defeating for any community to discriminate against half the population; we must challenge these self serving attitudes and practices that subjugate women throughout the world. This kind of understanding damages us all. This is not only a clear violation against the Universal Declaration on Human Rights but also the teachings of Jesus Christ, where all the children of God are treated equally and with dignity."

Now I am not a feminist but I am someone who believes in God given equality. "There is neither Jew nor Gentile, neither slave nor free, nor is there male and female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus."

The article by Jimmy Carter written over four pages highlights for me something beyond the rights of women - the desperate need to challenge any belief that seeks to prejudice or subjugate another, or where the Gospel is used in such a way as to justify the unjustifiable. Sadly we have seen too many cases on the news where this has been true. But as we welcome the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, I do pray that God will breathe into our hearts and minds a fresh understanding and in doing so will influence our attitudes so that we will not be channels of prejudice, but of truth and of justice.

The gospel sets us free!

With every blessing

Kim

From Rev. Ian Howarth

Dear Friends,

On 19th May we will be celebrating Pentecost Sunday. It is a time to celebrate the life and the power of God's spirit within us and the world, and also a time to celebrate the birthday of the church.

On that day we will be focussing on the story that Luke tells in the second chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, with the spirit coming as a rushing wind, and settling on the disciples in tongues of fire. It is a story that speaks of a drama and a power that we struggle to recapture in our church life. People speak in strange tongues, the disciples are accused of being drunk. It is all very strange and we struggle to picture exactly what was going on. But the important thing is that lives were changed.

As I write this I am very conscious of the tragedy of the world, and how humans visit death on each other, whether in bombs at the Boston Marathon or in Iraq, or in the personal tragedy of a distraught mother killing her children and then herself.

The message of Easter and Pentecost is that through faith in the risen Jesus, through the power of the Holy Spirit, life can come out of death. However, there is a real danger of that coming across as a simplistic message that denies the power and horror of death.

As we celebrate the life of God's spirit, we have to do that not as an escape from the life-denying things we see around us, but as a way of engaging with them. For many, whether those in places of violence and oppression, or those suffering personal tragedy, hope is a hard commodity to find. The resurrection of Jesus and the coming of the Holy Spirit does not offer a magic trick to put things right. But the evidence of the New Testament, and of Christian experience down the centuries, is that through the risen Jesus, in the power of the Spirit, new life is possible, lives can be changed, and love does win in the end.

In May we also observe Christian Aid week, from 12th - 19th May. This year it finishes on Pentecost Sunday, and it is good to support a Christian organisation that seeks to affirm life before death for all people, particularly those in need. I hope people will respond to Margaret Dodds-Ely's request, later in the Link*, for more help in the collection for it is a public way of showing ourselves to be people who wish to bring God's hope into people's lives.

I pray that through the difficulties we all face, and in our troubled world, our churches may be a sign of hope, they may be communities where new life is offered, where lives do change, and where we show God's love, the love that can never be put out.

Yours in Christ

Ian

Rev. Robert Teasdale

When Rev. Robert Teasdale was a minister in the Wimbledon Circuit, he and Joyce bought a retirement house in Cobham. So when, as Methodists say, he sat down, he joined our congregation and soon became very active. Our house group often met at his house, he was fully involved in the Friday night prayer meetings, and he was active in the leadership of the Sunday evening united services. In particular he led us in discussions on the way forward, which led to the appointment of Michael Meech as Associate Minister, and which took further the good relations with Cobham Community Church, which have now blossomed again. His insistence on the importance of prayer and bible study has had a lasting effect. So we were very sorry to learn that Robert has died following a brain tumour. We thank God for his ministry to us. Everything above about Robert's ministry should really be about Robert and Joyce, very much a team ministry. We ask God's blessing on Joyce and their family.

Baptist, Methodist and United Reformed Churches working together...

joint public issues team

...to live out the gospel of Christ in church and society

Truth and Lies about Poverty

In March, the Joint Public Issues team of the United Reformed, Methodist and Baptist Churches produced an excellent report on poverty, which has been taken up nationally.

It focuses on six myths about poverty, that are widely believed, but which statistically evidence shows to be completely untrue.

The full report is available on-line at <http://www.jointpublicissues.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2013/02/Truth-And-Lies-Report-smaller.pdf>

Over the next six months, the Link will publish the six myths one by one to help us reflect on the issues:

1. 'They' are lazy and don't want to work

The most commonly cited cause of child poverty by churchgoers and the general public alike is that "their parents don't want to work". Yet the majority of children in poverty are from working households. In-work poverty is now more common than out-of-work poverty. It is readily believed that across the country there are families in which three generations have never worked, and this is used as the argument behind welfare policies. However the report shows that examples of such families have not been found, and the evidence suggests it is unlikely they ever will be.

[The second Myth, 'They' are addicted to drink and drugs, will be published here next month.]

Methodist Homes Sunday 9th June 2013

"Youth is the gift of nature, but age is a work of art"
Stanisław Jerzy Lec, (Poet and writer)

So much of our contemporary media suggests that old age is a curse or a burden. The witness of Methodist Homes (MHA) is to God's gift of age, both to older people themselves and, through them, to the wider church and community. As we celebrate our 70th anniversary year, the 2013 Methodist Homes Sunday Appeal on 9th June asks how we ensure that these gifts are valued and shared in our communities.

Reflecting on the past 70 years offers a wonderful opportunity to give thanks for all the volunteers who have helped us to make life better for older people. We are delighted that their contribution has now been given royal approval, as MHA has been awarded the prestigious Queen's Diamond Jubilee Volunteering Award, equivalent to a corporate MBE.

The expectations of older people have changed dramatically since MHA's launch in 1943, but the fundamentals of our approach remain consistent with the vision of our Methodist founders. We remember Moses' injunction to 'choose life' and aim to make the later years of people's lives as meaningful as possible by continuing to place dignity and personal choice at the centre of all we do. Our hope and our prayer is that, as our work continues to develop to meet the needs of an increasing number of older people, the support of the Methodist people will continue to grow as well. Please join us to celebrate God's gift of age.

Anniversary Service Sunday 26th May

As usual we will be doing it in style!

We are going to be joined by our friends from the Filipino Church and our friends from Cobham Community Church. Each of the churches will contribute to the service with Ian preaching [and playing the piano if I can't get a pianist!!]. This will also be our farewell to Ian as he prepares to move to Birmingham. We would normally have lunch after the service but as we are going to be a large congregation we are having an indoor picnic lunch instead. I will let you all know how it goes!

This is a new initiative to give teenagers a space to perform musically and vocally, no matter what the skill level or music genre, so that they may be given the opportunity to perform and if they wish to talk with like-minded people about music, vocals and instruments.

This will be a place where people can get together for a couple of hours in an environment of mutual interests almost like a cross between an open mike night and a jam session. All are welcome from songwriters, vocalists to bands. There are no exclusions. Bring yourselves, your voice and your equipment and let's rock. For more information contact Colin on 07931 522855.

Coffee for Carers
Tuesdays 14th & 28th May at 11.00am

Coffee for Carers is an opportunity for carers to gather at Cobham URC for a coffee and a chat. In creating this space we hope to encourage support and fellowship for those who offer themselves selflessly to care for others. The group meets fortnightly (Tuesdays) at Cobham United Reformed Church and is open to anyone who would just like to meet in a warm and relaxing atmosphere. All are welcome.

Week 12th-18th May 2013

Churches Together in Effingham and Little Bookham's street collection in Effingham during Christian Aid week will be staffed by volunteers from Monday to Saturday from 10.00am to 4.30pm. Methodists do our bit on Wednesday 15th and Saturday 18th but if you'd prefer another day, please do contact Gill Walker either by telephone (01372 457987) or e-mail on: GillianMWalker@gmail.com

Ben Keepen

It is with great joy that I learnt of the fact that Ben Keepen is to marry his girlfriend Jo on 25th May at St Nicholas Church Bookham. I have known Ben since he was a young lad and followed his career in music and catering with great interest. So I was especially pleased when I heard of the date of the wedding as it is the date of my wedding anniversary too (67 years ago!) By a strange co-incidence Ben's brother Nicholas was married to Kiri on that same date some years ago. Nicholas was the prime mover in setting up a gardening business which is flourishing and now Ben works with him. Trevor and Jane are also involved which makes it a real family business.

Georgia on my mind!

It's 275 years since John Wesley's "warmed heart" on 24th May 1738, and his brother Charles's similar experience a couple of days earlier.

A revelation so profound that they were changed men, with a deep conviction that Christ had died for them. This led to their life-long journey to spread Christ's message of forgiveness throughout the British Isles.

A far cry from self-doubt and depression which sent them to Georgia, a fledgling British colony in America, three years earlier. An adventure which so nearly ended in disaster and death...

They sailed to Georgia in 1735, six months after their father's death, and John's failure to secure the living at Epworth, which made his mother and unmarried sisters homeless. Their older brother, Samuel, was furious with John's decision to accept a job as chaplain to the settlers and for Charles to become secretary to General Oglethorpe, the colony's founder. He was worried about Charles's health, as he'd been a premature baby and never strong. But to no avail. Charles was ordained just six weeks before they sailed. What about his mother and the rest of the family? Samuel's problem!!

They were nearly shipwrecked on the outward voyage, and Georgia was a real slap in the face. Living in huts or tents, with unruly and irreligious settlers, flirtatious and conniving women, Indians little better than heathen savages, deadly snakes and alligators, swamps and the boiling heat. Charles was ill with dysentery and a chest infection and stayed less than a year. John came home a chastened man but they'd met the Moravians who would change everything.

Please come and join us on 18th May for the full story.

Next Messy Church:

Thursday 16th May 3.30pm to 5.30pm at

Easter was celebrated at Messy Church on 21st March AND 18th April - we believe in doing things thoroughly! On 21st March, we "eggsplored" the whole Easter story. Children were challenged to collect a special jigsaw puzzle at each activity station. The finished picture included six aspects of Holy Week - from Palm Sunday to the risen Jesus - and a big "?" acknowledging the many questions people have about the resurrection. On 18th April our theme was New Life and there were seeds, eggs, chicks and butterflies a-plenty. Jay and Dave made a starring appearance as two rather overgrown caterpillars, speculating about whether it could really be true that they would be "born again" as beautiful butterflies.

Both sessions were very well attended and we are delighted to be welcoming several new families who are enjoying all the Messy activities.

Christian Aid Week

Thank you for the response we have already had regarding help during this important week in the Church calendar. There are still many blanks in our list of collectors so it is not too late if you feel you might have some time to spare whether it be house to house collection or an hour's stint at the Town Centre. For those of you who like fantastic views, a small patch at Givons Grove, or 10 houses only at Tyrrells Wood are on offer. If Fir Tree Road is nearer to home, a gap has appeared there for one year only.

I finish with a huge thank you to Anne Ray who was our organiser for many years, we are thinking of her at this worrying time.

We look forward to a deluge of calls!

Leith Hill Festival: Leatherhead Trinity

On Saturday 23rd March, Leatherhead Trinity Key Stage One choir won the Age Seven and Under trophy at the Leith Hill Festival.

They sang "The Body Song" by Mark and Helen Johnson and "Share the Light" by Bernadette Farrell. The adjudicator was very impressed with their confident singing and wonderful diction.

Lindsay Boswell who conducts the choir was extremely proud of the children who remembered to do everything she asked them to - they even remembered to smile!

Reflection on the Lent Groups

At first I had some misgivings about the choice of Lent course. Who was this Geoff Lucas ? What were his credentials ? Was he a pushy American evangelist with slick answers for everything ? I was favourably surprised. Geoff Lucas comes over on his DVD as a man who has thought deeply about his faith, and can talk about it in a direct, disarming way.

As a leader, I found he did not provoke controversy, but rather led you to contemplate the momentous events leading up to the crucifixion and resurrection, and how they impact on our lives today. I am not absolutely convinced that the camping allegory really worked - one tended to be distracted by his efforts to cook bacon - but what he said was sincere, original, well thought through and deeply felt. It left you pondering the significance of Jesus' journey to the cross long after the group sessions had ended.

At the end of it all, we are still left with the mystery of how the execution of an itinerant preacher in the Middle East two thousand years ago has left such an indelible mark on our lives today. It is heartening that both the newly elected Pope and Archbishop of Canterbury seem to want to redefine Christianity in its essential terms. As in every year, we are called to do the same from Easter 2013 onwards.

Happy Child Cupcake Initiative

WOULD YOU BE A HAPPY CHILD CUPCAKE QUEEN AND HOSTESS?

Or

DO YOU HAVE A SCHOOL CONTACT WHO WOULD ORGANISE A SCHOOL CUPCAKE SALE?

We are launching a National Cupcake initiative during May/June/July and would like Happy Child Hostesses in as many regions of the UK as possible.

Our aim is to have volunteer:

1. Hostesses for a Cupcake coffee morning or afternoon tea
2. Schools to organise a Cupcake sale

Your event could include:

- sale of cakes
- demonstration of decorating cupcakes
- trial of decorating cakes and can be a small event in your own home or for our brave organisers - ticketed event in a local hall. All proceeds would be for Happy Child in support of our three centres in Recife.

If we can get 25 Hostesses and each manage to raise £100 that would be a fantastic £2,500 for Happy Child and even better £200 would raise £5,000!

Please e-mail caroline.taylor@happychild.org or chris.nancarrow@happychild.org to register your name as Hostess and let us know your idea for an event and approximately when you may hold it.

We thank you for your support.

Easter Holiday

This was not a journey to some exotic place in warmer climes, but to Great Bookham, and that was adventure enough for me! By the way, my name is Daisy and I am a cat. I think I am fifteen, well beyond kittenhood. Usually I live with my Tadworth family.

I knew something was up. Mrs got the basket out. 'Oh, no!' I thought, 'I am having none of that.' I may be of slight build and not so young but four stiff legs, claws fully out and an arched back defeated her. So Mrs picked me up and dumped me in the footwell of the car. 'Stay there! Don't move!' she said. Don't move? I was petrified!

At the new house, to my horror, I found carpets everywhere. I catch my claws in carpet! First essential was to find a safe place. It was a narrow space between the washing machine and a cupboard and I went right underneath the bottom shelf. Nobody, nothing could get me there. I came out smothered in cobwebs but the new Mrs cleaned me up.

One morning I followed the new Mr out into the garden and round into the greenhouse. He did not notice I was still exploring under the staging when he shut the door. I was not too worried. It was warm and dry, and I found a lovely pot full of compost with some fresh greenery at the top. I padded round and round and settled down to wait. When they did find me, Mr shouted 'Oh, my carrots!' Carrots? I didn't see any carrots!

At night Mr & Mrs shut the door into the hall but I found I could open it quite easily and go upstairs as soon as it was light to get them up. First I walked up and down them and then sat on a pillow and purred into the nearest ear. I can get up quite a rumble when I try. 'Wretched cat' they said. 'It is too early. Your timer has gone wrong.' I didn't know I had a timer, just my stomach said I needed food!

I sleep a lot. Most cats do. My favourite place, on a rare sunny day, was a warm spot in the sun lounge to stretch out in and almost cook. Bliss, sheer bliss! When I am not sleeping or eating or simply contemplating, I groom myself. I am fastidious about this! My paws, whiskers and fur must be absolutely pristine. My Tadworth Mrs makes sure I am flea-free. Nothing is more tiring than having to scratch, scratch, scratch.

I suppose I will have to go back to Tadworth some time, but meanwhile, I will make the most of the peace and quiet here.

PS I wouldn't let them catch me to take home, so I am still here!

Jonah Chapter 3

The following is an excerpt from a sermon preached at St George's Iron Church of Scotland in Glasgow fifteen or more years ago by Sinclair Ferguson as part of a sermon on the subject of Jonah chapter 3:

Last century in the Gorbals Sunday School mission that was run in the East Gorbals, the Superintendent recounts in this narrative to which the great Horatius Bonar the hymn writer has a foreword - recounts how they found themselves seeking to reach young children who had no background whatsoever in Scripture or in the message of the Gospel - like today - listen to this:

He says, "The school was opened by the East Gorbals Sabbath School Association" (and there's a name to conjure with if you're wanting a really eye-grabbing title for an evangelistic agency). Listen to what he says about the children: He says, "Those who came (and there were very few of them) were more like the children of barbarous parents than anything else." And he goes on to give you a description that authenticates his own. "They were ignorant, unruly and ungodly. They had never heard of the Gospel of peace until they came to that school and it was not for any good purpose that many of them attended."

Some of you who have been on missions will know exactly what he is speaking about but have you ever experienced this? Now this is nineteenth century Glasgow. If you thought children today were bad listen to this. Nineteenth Century Glasgow. "The floor of the room was laid with bricks..." Do I need to say any more? "...many of which were frequently torn up..." and says this good man "...and on several occasions I providentially escaped being struck with large stones which were thrown at me. Other scholars were given to swearing, lying, quarrelling and fighting with each other and we prayed and laboured amongst them for a considerable period without seeing any visible improvement in the conduct, never mind the spiritual condition - in the outward conduct of any of them."

He goes on to describe a day - he dates it 11th September 1859. "When some of these Sunday School teachers met together for half an hour for prayer before the beginning of their Sunday School and they prayed for the anointing of God upon their ministry..." On that memorable evening he says, "...the Lord was pleased to give us some fruit of our labours."

During the closing address at the class, not a few were seen in tears. Some were crying out loud. I intimated at the close that those who were anxious about their spiritual condition should remain. Many did so. Thirteen of them were in bitter agony, crying in despair. One who was a swearer said he felt himself on the very brink of hell. Some of those who were awakened that night had been our most troublesome students of course. Now they were exclaiming, "Oh my sins - oh what will I do?" It seemed as if the Holy Spirit had shed a flood of light upon their hearts... - and listen to this: Here is this - he was a very ordinary man - not only ordinary but in this book he's completely anonymous, but listen to what he says. He says, "The Holy Spirit had shed a flood of light upon their hearts and revealed a whole life of sin in the space of a few minutes. That's all God needs. In the space of a few minutes, turning to Christ, many of them found peace in believing and went away with hearts overflowing with joy". Then he goes on to tell us how the spark leapt over the gap. "On Sabbath 18th September a week later we again met together for special prayer for an increased outpouring of the Holy Spirit. When the school assembled there was an attendance of nearly one half more than had been there the previous Sunday."

MWiB Conference at Swanwick (12th - 14th April)

'Crossing the Chasm' Part 1

It was an exceptionally large gathering of 210 women and a few men. As always it was a mixture of Worship, Bible Study, workshops, discussion and fun. The keynote facilitator was Rev. Katei Kirby, Partnership Officer for 'Belonging Together' based at Church House. Katei was a lovely black lady with a marvellous sense of humour. Who dares say we are a dull lot? It was very noticeable that there was a much larger proportion of younger women. Two of these young women were Rev. Jenny Pathmarajah and Rev. Amy Walters, both in their 20's and will be ordained at Conference in July. They led the music throughout, and the evening prayers. Both were extremely talented as singers and instrumentalists.

A sub-section of the theme was those who have and those who don't, with varying aspects of the chasm between. Jill Baker chose the story of Ruth as her Bible Study, emphasising Naomi (Ruth's mother-in-law) who was a 'have-not', losing her husband, her sons (and the chance of heirs) and her homeland. When Ruth pledges herself to stay with Naomi and continue with her on her journey, they both become those who have, a new homeland, and, for Ruth, a husband and son.

I chose a workshop based on the work of the MRDF, particularly their involvement in Nepal. The focus of MRDF is to help reduce worldwide poverty, and it is gratifying to hear that extreme poverty has gradually been reduced by half. MRDF work overseas is not about doing the work, but supporting locals who know the local needs. They empower overseas partners to do what they do best particularly when providing emergency relief following disasters.

My second workshop concerned literacy, the closing of the chasm between policies and practices in relation to the 514 million of women around the world who have little or no literacy skills. Literacy is far more than the ability to read and write and understand. Think about it. Our group made a list of thirty or more tasks requiring literate knowledge, and it could have been twice as long! The global need for women's literacy programmes still exists, including GB. In places in the world where women have little status, men often fear giving their women (a 'possession') a voice which may reduce their hold and power! More next month.

Local Mission and Ministry Review (LMMR)

LMMR is an important new part of church life, a periodic review of local mission and ministry, introduced by the United Reformed Church for all local churches including URC/Methodist churches and other LEPs which include the URC.

Each Church has a Pastorate Profile setting out its priorities for the church and its mission in the local community, prepared for a new minister. Every two years it is reviewed by the Minister, Elders and Church Meeting to assess progress.

Every four years three people, not from the local congregation, trained as facilitators will visit the church to support and encourage the congregation to review their Profile and make the best use of their resources.

In order for this review to take place we need people to volunteer to train as facilitators. Surrey/Sussex/Synod area has sent out an appeal to all churches in the area asking for volunteers willing to take part in the training.

Our hope is that LMMR will help all local churches:-

1. to have a better focus on its mission and have clear objectives for the church itself to fulfil;
2. to help ministers make the best use of their time, with priorities on which to focus;
3. to do a few things – and to do them well – one of the seven marks of a healthy church – rather than trying to do too much and then feeling guilty about not doing everything!
4. to better fulfil our calling to be God's people, serving him in Jesus' name through the best use of all the gifts of ministry in a church.

ENOUGH FOOD

CAMPAIGN UPDATE

ENOUGH FOOD FOR EVERYONE IF WE ACT TOGETHER

Born just two weeks apart in northern Ghana, 13-year-olds Sulemana and Lukman are intelligent and articulate teenagers. But whilst Lukman attends Gbanyamni Primary school, where he receives a free school lunch every day, Sulemana must work in the fields and goes hungry. But Sulemana shouldn't have to go hungry because this planet provides enough food for everyone.

Yet hunger is the world's most shocking problem. One in eight people on this planet lives with the pain of hunger. It's unfair, it's unjust, and - it's totally preventable. That's why Christian Aid has joined with over 100 churches and charities to launch the biggest campaign since Make Poverty History, The ENOUGH FOOD FOR EVERYONE IF campaign hopes to reach more than 20 million people with one aim: to end global hunger - for good.

Sulamana, 13, weeds his father's maize farm 2km from his family home

HOW WILL WE TACKLE HUNGER?

Lukman's school is part of Ghana's school feeding programme which costs the government $32m - donated by other governments - whilst at the same time tax dodging in the mining sector alone costs the country more than $36m. Ghana simply can't afford to extend the programme to more schools. Tackling tax dodging would be a major step in ensuring the Ghanaian government has the money it needs to ensure there is enough food for everyone. This campaign will also address issues of aid, land grabs and transparency that all contribute towards global hunger.

This year is our opportunity to make dramatic progress towards ending this crisis. David Cameron will chair the G8 in Northern Ireland in June and we must take this opportunity to come together to ensure world leaders listen and act. IF they do, children like Sulemana will no longer go to bed hungry.

We're really excited that Commitment for Life is involved in this movement. By acting together, we can end this injustice and be the generation to end global hunger.

Christ Church Family News

We wish Bob Booker well for his hip operation this month

We are sorry to report that Sonia Gigg died peacefully on 7th April in Milner House. Sonia attended Christ Church regularly for a few years before going to live in Milner House. We extend our sincere sympathy to her family. The funeral will take place at 12:30pm on Friday 3rd May at Randall's Road Crematorium.

We are sorry that Derek Ray is unwell and needs Anne's full time care at the moment. We send our very best wishes for his full recovery. It is good to see Anne in church when she can manage it.

We are very sad to report the death of Olive Rayner on 12th April, after battling courageously with illness for a long time. We send our deepest sympathy to John and the family in their loss and assure them of our prayers and support. Olive's Thanksgiving Service will be at Christ Church at 3:00pm on Wednesday 1st May, followed by a Crematorium service at 4:15pm.

We remember all those who need our prayers at this time, who are unwell, thinking especially of Bert and Florence Gower, and Carol Hazell, and others who are undergoing treatment."
